AT LEAST 15 MEET DEATH ON HIGHWAYS

Illinois Led National Week-End Fatality Parade

Chicago, April 27.—(AP)—Illinois led the national automobile week-end fatality parade today, with at least 15 deaths.

A family of four was wiped out when Joseph Falcone, 32, drove his automobile into a Grand Trunk passenger train at a grade crossing in Harvey, Mrs. Falcone, 27, and their two children died with Falcone in the crash.

At Mt. Carmel, a small coupe driven by Leland Dixon, 25, struck a bridge abutment. Dixon and two girls, Miss Helen Smith, 24, Vincennes, Ind., and Miss Gladys Tisdale, Mt. Carmel, were killed.

Two Chicagoans fell victims to hit-and-run drivers. Another was fatally injured as he crossed the street in front of his home.

Claude Spurgeon, 28, Centralia life insurance agent, was killed when his car crashed head-on with another, driven by Claude Beacham, Centralia, who was seriously injured.

Mendota Fatality
Struck by a car, said by police to have been driven by Lawrence McLaughlin, Fred Sontag died in a Mendota hospital. At Springfield, William A. Schwarze, 74, for 33 years an employee in the office of the secretary of state, died after being struck by a car.

A great crossing crash in Mt. Vernon caused the death of Vernon Hayes, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hayes. The child died when his father's car stalled in front of a Chicago & Eastern Illinois passenger train.

Mrs. Russell Townsend, wife of state's attorney of Mason county, died in a Canton hospital after a two-car crash which injured 10 other persons. Of the injured, the condition of Mrs. Mae Danhoff, Lacon, was the most serious. Surgeons amputated her left leg.

BANKS OF OHIO RIVER CRUMBLE TOWN MENACED

Smithland, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—Residents of this little community, perched on the banks of the Ohio river, watched anxiously today as approximately 225 feet of land along the river front was gradually sinking into the river.

A two-story brick building erected in 1840 was crumbling as the foundation slowly washed away. An adjoining building was feared to be collapsing and occupants moved furniture and equipment.

Residents said they first observed a deep crevice last Thursday. It gradually widened until yesterday and the entire street in front of the buildings dropped into the river. Today the river was edging forward and the foundations of the buildings were weakening.

C. J. Rhodes, senior engineer in charge of the United States engineering office at Paducah, ordered workers here in an effort to erect barriers to check the crumbling. He said the winter floods had undermined the bank.

Meetings Between Freddie, Mother Are Kept Secret

Hollywood, April 27.—(AP)—Prospects of another meeting between Freddie Bartholomew and his mother were shielded today with as much secrecy as surrounded their first conference in the midst of a court fight over the child-actor's custody.

Attorneys disclosed that Mrs. Gillian Bartholomew saw her 12-year-old $1,000-a-week actor son last Wednesday, not in the presence of his aunt and guardian, Miss Millicent Bartholomew. The aunt's counsel reported Freddie was "cordial and acted like any boy who was seeing his mother again after an absence."

After filing in a suit last week to have the guardianship set aside, the mother filed a petition for an accounting of his earnings. She came from England to start the contest.

Flowers Barred

Pana, Ill.—Holding that the dead should be honored by masses for the their souls rather than by flowers on their graves, the Rev. L. J. Mattingly, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, told his parishioners that hereafter no flowers would be allowed on graves in Calvary cemetery.

COMPTON CRASH FATAL TO MILWAUKEE DRIVER

(Telegraph Special Service)

Compton, April 27.—James Higgins, 5314 West Vine street, Milwaukee, Wis., was killed, and Geo. W. Ware, also of Milwaukee, was seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred a few miles south of Compton Sunday night.

The pair were driving south from Milwaukee to Little Rock, Ark., and traveling at a high rate of speed attempted to round a sharp corner known as "Death Curve." The car left the road and turned over several times in the ditch. Higgins suffered a fatal skull fracture, dying in the Compton hospital a short time later. Ware sustained fractured vertebrae. Both were taken to the Compton hospital and placed in the care of Dr. C. J. Pool.

Illness Claims "Good Luck" Actor Of Drama World

Hollywood, April 27.—(AP)—Tammany Young, the "good luck" actor of the show world, is dead.

The former New York stage actor, who turned to the movies five years ago, died here yesterday after a long illness. He was 49.

For many New York seasons, Young played "bits" for David Belasco, Jed Harris, Charles Frohman and the Shuberts. They put him into their productions "just for luck."

Five years ago, his friend, W. C. Fields brought him to Hollywood to be a "stooge" in all his comedies. Their last film together, "Poppy," was completed only recently.

Young's oddly-assorted pursuits included writing magazine articles and crashing the gate at big sporting events. In an ice man's outfit, including a block of ice on his back, Young got in to see the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, gratis. His widow, May, survives.

Boys With High Powered Rifle Frighten Dixon Family Seated at Dinner Table Yesterday Noon

Members of the George Toot family, 615 Sterling avenue, were about to sit down to dinner about 1 o'clock noon Sunday, when a bullet burst through one of the walls of the room, sang over their heads, struck a framed picture, shattering the glass and lodged in the wall. The police were notified and arrived shortly to start an investigation.

The missile, a steel jacketed 44 caliber high powered rifle bullet, was dug from the wall. Three boys had been seen in the neighborhood with a rifle of ancient type and when they were questioned, it developed that one of the trio had fired the shot. The bullet passed through a piece of sheet iron and both walls of the Bovey green house on Morgan street, hit the paving, then ricocheted, striking the Toot residence. In the absence of his parents from their home a boy was reported to have taken the antique from the house to two companions. The bullet was fired at a tree but the marksmen missed, with the above result. The boys were ordered to report at the police station at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

HISTORIAN TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY SATURDAY

Public Invited to Hear Frank Stevens, Former Local Editor

Frank E. Stevens, former Dixonite who at one time published a newspaper here, and who later was a publisher in Sycamore and was mayor of that city, and who now lives in Springfield, where he is employed by the state in historical research work, will speak in Dixon on Saturday afternoon at the Methodist church under the auspices of the D. A. R. Mr. Stevens is not only an eloquent and gifted orator, but he is one of the best informed men in Illinois on the history of the state. His subject will have to do with Illinois and its various sections and the high points of interest of each section.

D. A. R. Shares Treat
The meeting will be called at 3 P. M. Saturday, May 2 and the general public is invited. There will be no admission charge as the members of the D. A. R. wish to share with the general public this special treat, which will be of exceptional interest.

There will be a special business meeting for members of the D. A. R. at the Methodist church at 2 P. M. just prior to the public meeting.

A recent editorial in the Springfield Journal, captioned "See Illinois" gives a general idea of some of the interesting highlights in the talk with Mr. Stevens will deliver here Saturday afternoon. It reads:

As the summer tourist season approaches, Illinois should not be unmindful of its undeveloped tourist resources. Beauty spots, places of unusual historical interest and marvelous industrial centers. Nor should Illinois be reticent or modest in bringing these attractions to the attention of the entire Nation.

Illinois might well follow the example of the so-called "Vacation Regions" of America and take definite steps to publicize the manifold attractions of the great Prairie State of Lincoln and Douglas, of Grant and Logan. The Century of Progress brought millions of people into the State, but Greater Chicago was the chief beneficiary of that unparalleled incentive that brought the world to this part of the United States. The attractions of Chicago are numerous and notable, but the rest of the State has had little publicity that would draw tourists into its remote and rural sections, where so many points of real interest and beauty are little known.

A State bureau of publicity would help greatly in bringing to the attention of the Nation these undeveloped resources within the State. What Peck's Gazetteer did for pioneer Illinois one hundred years ago, such a bureau of publicity could do in a much larger way today. Tourists en route to the Rockies, or to Florida or California or the Northern Lakes or to New England or to Washington, D. C., would be induced to make little detours in Illinois, at small additional expense and to the annual advantage of all concerned.

Surrounded by the much publicized playground sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Kentucky, Indiana and the Missouri Ozarks, Illinois has meant little more to the average tourist than so many miles to be traversed, so many filling stations to be encountered, so many hot-dog stands to be endured, while en route to some better known region.

What are the centers of interest in Illinois worthy of publicity in national magazines and through tourist and transportation agencies?

Brilliant University of Chicago Student is Found Dead: Old Scalpel in Heart

Uncle of Medical Student Demands Investigation

Chicago, April 27.—(AP)—A thorough investigation of the death of Jack Schiffer, 21, whose brilliant career at the University of Chicago was ended by a single thrust of an antique surgeon's knife, was demanded today by his uncle.

Sergeant James Sullivan listed the case a suicide last night but the uncle, Benjamin Elboom, asserted he was dissatisfied with that theory.

"I don't see how anybody could stick a knife into himself like that," Elboom said. "He was a model boy and had no troubles. I am going to demand a thorough investigation."

Sullivan said the evidence indicated Schiffer had apparently spent several hours smoking and gazing at a skull on his desk in his apartment in exclusive Hitchcock Hall and then had stripped to his pajama trousers, reclined on a bed and plunged the 12-inch blade into his chest just above the heart.

Found by Roommate
The gruesome discovery was made by Schiffer's roommate, E. T. Baumgart, following his return from a week end at his home in Danville, Ill.

Schiffer, who resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., was a freshman medical student. He became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, before his graduation from Columbia University last year.

Baumgart identified the weapon as a dissection knife that had belonged to his grandfather, a physician. He told investigators Schiffer had worried over his studies despite his "A" record. Baumgart and Abraham Kauvar said Schiffer had talked of suicide recently but they had laughed and advised him to see a university psychiatrist.

American Fleet Moves Out To Sea For Problem XVII

San Pedro, Calif., April 27.—(AP)—War time conditions prevailed aboard the ships of the United States fleet today as they prepared to slip away to sea for an extended test of their fitness.

Radios were silenced aboard the 150 vessels, which for the next six weeks will carry on just as in time of war. At night they will be darkened.

This year's grand maneuvers call for solution of problem XVII. It is the 17th of a series of strategic problems, each based upon some possible international situation, mapped out by naval strategists.

The Panama Canal region is the first objective of the fleet. All phases of operations in which battleships, aircraft carriers, heavy and light cruisers, submarines and destroyers can engage will be included in the war games.

Egyptian Pharaoh Reported Failing

Cairo, April 27.—(AP)—The condition of King Fuad, 68, gravely ill with a throat and mouth infection, became worse today, the royal physicians announced.

An official bulletin said the monarch passed a restless night and that his mouth infection was spreading, increasing circulatory troubles. The king has taken no food for four days.

The royal family was called to the king's bedside. Fuad was reported to have lapsed into a state of coma and physicians were understood to consider his condition hopeless.

BRITISH KILLER LOST APPEAL TO HIGHEST COURT

London, April 27.—(AP)—The court of criminal appeal today dismissed an appeal by Dr. Buck Ruxton, "Devil's Beef Tub" killer from the death sentence for the murder of his wife.

Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice of England, announced the decision after the three judges of the court had considered a long plea by Dr. Ruxton's Attorney, Norman Birkett, who claimed the judge had misdirected the jury in the original trial.

No evidence was called for from crown attorneys and the judges consulted with each other only a few seconds before deciding on the rejection of the appeal.

Dr. Ruxton killed his wife and a servant "on or about" Sept. 15, 1935. Their bodies were discovered and thrown in a ravine on the Scottish border called the "Devil's Beef Tub."

Ruxton was arrested Oct. 13 and convicted by a jury March 13, 1936. He was to have been hanged April 1, but the hanging was postponed while Birkett, a famous criminal lawyer, carried an appeal to the high court.

Van Nuys said he would take his evidence to the floor of the Senate if Hopkins did not "clean it up."

Feared to Vote

Rockford, Ill.—Members of Winnebago county's Pomona Grange adopted a resolution asking that both party tickets in future primaries be printed on one ballot, so that election officials could not learn how any person voted. Several members insisted farmers feared to vote in the recent primaries because they believed their choice of party ballots might influence granting of farm aid.

SLANDER SUIT CALLED UP IN CIRCUIT COURT

A jury in the circuit court today was empanelled to hear testimony in the $10,000 slander suit brought by Rupert A. Herbert, Mendota tavern keeper, against Porter C. Fundenberg, farmer of East Grove township, this county. Attorneys A. G. Harris and W. H. Winn are appearing for Herbert while Attorneys Maurin J. Gannon and Fremont Kaufman represent Fundenberg.

The suit is the outgrowth of Fundenberg's alleged charges against Herbert made on Nov. 22 of last year in the Mendota police station, when the East Grove township farmer is said to have stated that the tavern keeper stole ducks from Fundenberg's farm. It later developed that residents of Peoria contracted for the ducks, hauled them away and failed to return and pay for them. The Peorians were arrested and brought to Dixon and made restitution for the property, after which Herbert filed a $10,000 suit in the Lee county court against the East Grove farmer in which he charged that his reputation had been injured through Fundenberg's error.

Chief of Police Godfrey Elchorn of Mendota was one of the witnesses for the plaintiff this forenoon.

KARPIS CHARGED WITH ROBBERY OF OHIO TRAIN

Cleveland, April 27.—(AP)—Assistant U. S. District Attorney Frank Weidman swore out affidavits today charging Alvin Karpis, national public enemy number one, Harry Campbell, and three others with the $46,000 Garrettsville, O. train robbery last Nov. 7.

The affidavits will form the basis of warrants containing the specific charge of robbing the mails, he said.

"Karpis directed and led the robbery," said the attorney. "Campbell and the others took part."

John Brock, alias T. F. Evans, alias Harold Johnson; Fred Hunter, alias Fred King, alias Harold King, alias Fred Harris, and John Doe alias "Sam" were the others named in the affidavits.

"The evidence obtained in Federal investigation indicated these men all participated," he said. "Witnesses to the robbery identified pictures of the men for whom warrants are being prepared."

The gang operated on a national scale, Weidman said.

One of the five was in custody, but Weidman declined to specify which, beyond the fact it was not Karpis.

WELL KNOWN LANDLORD TO BID PROPERTY

Plans Rehabilitation of Historic Hotel if Successful

M. E. Rice, former owner of the Nachusa Tavern in Dixon, veteran hotel man who has operated successful hotel properties in northern Illinois cities for many years, announced last night that he plans to buy the Nachusa Tavern, historical old Dixon hotel which dates back 99 years.

The Nachusa is now in the bankruptcy courts, placed there by action of the bond holders, but Mr. Rice stated that the property would be sold at public auction within two or three weeks and that he expects to make a bid on it which will cover the first and second mortgages, a total of $35,000. The first mortgage is for $25,500, held by bond holders, and the second mortgage, which is held by Mr. Rice, is for $5,500.

Plans Rehabilitation.

Mr. Rice declared that in the event that he is the highest bidder and becomes owner of the property he will close the hotel for a number of weeks in order to give it a very thorough renovating and remodeling. He has extensive plans for renewing and dressing up the famous old hotel and if his plans mature the Nachusa Tavern will be a completely modern, up-to-date and luxurious hotel.

New furniture, new paint and paper, new inner-spring mattresses, new rugs and carpets throughout, improvements to the exterior of the building, especially the front, as well as, are all included in Mr. Rice's program for a new lease on life for this interesting old landmark which, over the past century, has housed so many of the famous people in American and international history.

Mr. Rice now owns and operates hotels in Sterling, DeKalb and Elgin. He was the genial host at the Nachusa Tavern for years and ran a very popular hotel here. The return of Mr. Rice and his family to Dixon would be very pleasing to their many, many friends in this city.

Two Injured Sunday Night In Accident South of the City

F. C. Bricketts of Princeton and Harold Laughlin of Malden sustained cuts and bruises and their car was considerably damaged Sunday evening about 10 o'clock in an accident which occurred about one mile south of Dixon on state route 89. They were following another car of which the Stanley Noble family of this city were the occupants.

At the Bloody Gulch corner the Noble car turned suddenly to the left off the highway and Laughlin, driver of the second car, swerved off the paving into a ditch, crashing into a pole to avert a collision. Both injured men were removed to the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital where their injuries were dressed and later returned to their homes.

A GREAT LIFE.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

"WHAT is a great life?" asked a famous Frenchman, and he added his own answer to the question when he said: "It is a thought in youth carried out in ripened years." It is a perfect answer.

Here is a true definition of a great life, in contrast with a planless life, which adds one day to another at random, and trusts to blind chance that some sort of success will come out of it.

No, there must be a "thought in youth"—a long thought, a dedication to that thought, and the perseverance to see it through to the end. "Continuity is the one unbeatable quality," a wise man adds.

One has only to turn to the pages of biography to verify the fact. My friend Felix Adler often thanked God for "the idea that ruled me," as he put it. A great idea grasped his life and made it great.

As a lad Lincoln saw the schism in the heart of his country. He felt it as a personal sorrow; if not a sin, and set himself to heal it. To save the Union became his passion and purpose, "without slavery if possible, with slavery if necessary," as he wrote to Greeley.

As one of his friends said, "The Union rose in his mind to the sublimity of a religious mysticism," and that was true. His whole life was organized about it, devoted to it, sacrificed to it.

"This one thing I do," said St. Paul, in his mystical quest of Christ. It gave unity, direction and drive to his life, and power to his magnificent and ceaseless evangelism.

Alas, the ability to make a flying start does not always mean a good finish. Many lives are a succession of first laps; they remain perpetually promising, with never any rich and fruitful fulfillment.

Carrying on, sticking it, keeping the faith—these are the things that count. One can flash up like a rocket, and fizzle out. The end of life is a clearer commentary on the beginning.

Harping on Failings Kills Confidence

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Real sympathy implies understanding and there is little understanding in the habit of calling attention to childhood calamities.

Certainly some children seem to be chosen by fate for unlucky breaks. They fracture their bones, get measles just at examination time, and tear their clothes for no reason, and never win the prizes for which they are working.

These are the very children to need the armor of encouragement and the sword of hope.

After all, it is hope that carries us through the world. Hope and faith! Hope that the sun will shine tomorrow, and faith which implants the knowledge that it will! Such a heritage is a priceless one for a child. Priceless, and yet within the reach of every questioning little mind, if the parents of the child understand its significance.

Futility Haunts Failure

Futility—that sense of "Oh, what's the use?" is a black cloud that will shadow any life. If a child fails in school don't say: "Oh, Johnnie, won't you ever learn?"

Of course he won't if you implant the idea in his mind that he won't. Pretend that this year was unfortunate and that next year he is going to sail through geography and grammar and he will. If only to show you—and himself!

If there is a child in your family who is developing a complex of fatalism—a child who feels that life is unfair, that his brother gets better grades and his sister gets to do as she pleases, while everything unhappily comes to him, from breaking a leg to pink eye—don't mention his troubles to him. He is spending enough time thinking about them. Teach him to laugh them off! Show him that he will be the braver because he has conquered so many ailments. Build up a picture of the sturdy strength that will be his very soon. He will respond to your thought and begin to smile.

Gaiety Spurs Achievement

Homes need more gaiety. If Mary upsets the maple syrup on the table cloth instead of a pancake, don't scold the child. Certainly she didn't deliberately plan the sticky adornment. She is sorer than you are.

If Johnnie gets 70 in arithmetic when you wanted him to have 100, don't say: "Oh, Johnnie, is that the best you can do?" Better to be gay as you talk to him. "See here, Johnnie you're a hundred per cent young man and this grade isn't like you. Now next month be yourself. What do you want for dinner? Caramel pudding?"

Don't scold children. Expect things of them. Their own pride will make them measure up.

CONCRETE CAN TAKE IT

The past winter put the American highway system, especially in the northern states, to the severest test it has ever endured. There were temperatures far below zero. There were floods that covered sections of road many feet deep. When the ground thawed out and the floods subsided, the repair gangs went to work, and this is what they found:

Frost had buckled the macadam roads in many places.

Frost and flood had done severe damage to brick roads.

Neither frost nor flood had had the slightest effect on deep-foundations concrete roads.

In the Susquehanna Valley, for example, where the raging river smashed stone embankments, the concrete roads were opened to traffic as soon as the water receded and the mud had been washed off. Along some of its tributaries the roads, to judge by the height of the debris, were at some places 10 feet under water, but their foundations remained solid and their surfaces unimpaired.

The Romans built great roads which endured for centuries, but they built comparatively few. In one generation, America has built the finest road system ever seen on this earth, and her concrete roads on foundations of rock seem impervious to everything but high explosives.—Detroit News.

STATES LIMIT INDUSTRY BY EXCLUDING JOBLESS

The state of Colorado has taken a leaf from California's book, and is throwing troops along its borders to keep out unwanted visitors.

Like California, Colorado is fond of tourists. But it is interested only in tourists who bring plenty of money with them. The roving job-hunter who hopes to find a pay check fluttering loose is most decidedly not wanted.

So the Colorado authorities, like those in California, have taken to posting soldiers along the borders to search autos, buses and trains, and to turn back people who do not come well-heeled.

"Jobs in this state are for our citizens," say Gov. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado. "I propose to see that they are not filled by outsiders, if I have to invoke the full military strength of the state to do so."

Nothing could be more natural than for a governor to take this attitude. After all, a governor's first responsibility is to the people of his own state. And yet one wonders if people who adopt this stand have ever heard of the services rendered to America's productive system by the migratory worker.

This country is dotted with industries which, of necessity, operate spasmodically. For a few weeks or months such industries need a large number of workers; thereafter—for the rest of the year, in many cases—they need very few.

They have been able to operate only because of the existence of a great many workers who roam halfway across the continent in the course of a year, drifting from one brief job to another, collecting pay checks in half a dozen states in the course of six months.

One of these workers will start out, for instance, by putting in a few weeks as a cherry-picker in the Michigan orchards. The cherry season over, he will spend a month or so as deckhand on a Great Lakes steamer. Then he will drift to the northwest for the wheat harvest in the Dakotas.

A little later he will move on again—to wind up, perhaps, on the farms of the Imperial Valley, in the California canneries, or in the cotton fields of the south-west.

As he moves from one job to another, he is, technically, a jobless man. He is looking for work, but he has no specific job in mind; he is, by the magnificent illogicality of our modern way of putting things, a bum. As such, he is due to be caught in the nets which such states as Colorado are putting up on their borders.

Carry this idea to its obvious conclusion and we would have no more migratory workers. ... mean more general confusion and trouble for more different industries than you could easily shake a stick at.

FAR-SIGHTED LEADER

The American Legion seems to have blown itself to a national commander of more than average intelligence.

National Commander Ray Murphy gives evidence of this by his attitude toward the collegiate "Veterans of Future Wars."

Instead of denouncing these lads, Commander Murphy has praise for them. In Miami, the other day, he remarked:

"They're doing a job, whether they realize it or not. They're making all war look ridiculous, and some of the greatest minds in the world have tried to do that and failed. They have launched a good peace movement, and if they're sincere we'd like to have them join us."

There could be a real force for peace—the men who fought in the last war standing shoulder to shoulder with the boys who will have to fight in the next one! Commander Murphy is to be commended for having the vision to see it.

A DOUBLE SHAME

May 1 has been set aside as National Child Health Day, and it comes this year with exceptional significance. Consider the figures.

The United States faces the double shame of having the second highest maternal death rate in the civilized world and an increasing infant death rate in rural areas. Only in Chile do more mothers, proportionately, die in childbirth than in this country, says Dr. Martha M. Eliot of the United States Children's Bureau.

Chief causes behind this tragic condition are lack of knowledge and proper care, we are told by child health experts. Hence Child Health Day flings a new challenge at us in 1936.

There is no excuse for a great many of these deaths. Federal, state, and local agencies are ready to lend an intelligent hand. It remains, therefore, for the individual citizen to ascertain conditions in his community so that he may turn to the proper sources for help.

Wee Coppy's heart was standing still, and he kept thinking, "What a thrill the old prospector's bound to get when I show him this gold." "No doubt there's more where this came from, and I will find it, or I'm dumb. 'Twill mean a lot to our fine friends, because he's getting old."

The lad kept running till he spied the man he sought, and then he cried, "Three cheers for me! I've had success. Just look at what I've found."

"It's real gold, or I miss my guess. You will admit I'm good, I guess. I panned it in the stream and it came right out of the ground."

The man replied, "That's fine, my son. A real good piece of work you've done." And then he took the nugget and gazed at it for a while.

"This lad will get a shock," thought he. "He has been badly fooled, I see." He put his arm round Coppy and his face spread in a smile.

Washington Parade By CARLISLE BARGERSON

Washington. — Notwithstanding the surface gaiety of the New Dealers, every now and then such a story of individual suffering comes through as to give heart-ache to even a Tory. There is the plight of Prof. Rex Tugwell, for example. He has $35,000,000 on hand which he can't get rid of because of the slow processes of the law. At least, he can't get it before election and goodness only knows, he may not be here to get rid of it after that.

It puts a frown in Rex's getting rid of a money record. He is doing very well in his other spending endeavors. All told, he has about $240,000,000 to get rid of through resettlement work, farmer rehabilitation and purchase of submarginal land. With the cost of his overhead he has been only high successful in spending on resettlement and rehabilitation. Of course, in an effort to get of money in his resettlement administration, he did have to go in for low cost housing in which no one is resettled, but inasmuch as his job is to spend it would take a mighty fractious person to argue about terminology.

It is in the purchase of submarginal lands that he has completely fallen down. He hasn't been 000 actually into the farmers' hands.

The professor's purchasers roam all over the country picking out this tract and that tract in the way of submarginal lands. When they find a submarginal tract that strikes their eye they approach the farmer and ask him if he would care to sell.

"Do I?" invariably replies the farmer, who hasn't done anything with it since Hector was a pup. He hasn't done anything with it in so long, in fact, that the question comes up as to whether he really owns the land or not. The professor's purchasers take an option, however. They get the option for nothing. In fact, if they would just go ahead and move in on the land the chances are nine out of ten times nothing would be said. But they get an option and then if the sale goes through the farmer is paid on the average of $4.50 an acre.

The professor has been discussing with New Deal congressmen the matter of passing a law that would make him the sole judge of whether the farmer had clear title to the property or not. This would expedite the purchase of submarginal land, as you can well see. So far, however, no congressman has had the temerity to sponsor such a measure. You can imagine how the professor's fingers burn.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Probation after Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 26.

The Golden Text was, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead" (1 Peter 1:3).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son" (Rev. 21:3, 7). The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is the origin and ultimate of man, never attainable through death, but gained by walking in the pathway of Truth both before and after that which is called death" (p. 457).

Chicago, April 27.—(AP)—Col. Hugh Scott, manager of the Edward Hines, Jr., Memorial hospital at Hines, Ill., announced today that the hospital will observe national Hospital Day, May 12, with a program to which the public will be invited.

Col. Scott said he extended his personal invitation especially to all ex-service men of Illinois and their families. Gen. John V. Clinch of Glenview will be the speaker at the institution, where disabled war veterans are given treatment.

NEW RECORDS BOLSTER U. S. TRACK HOPES

Cunningham, Owens
Reassure Fans of Ability

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, April 27.—(AP)—America's track and field experts were a bit conservative earlier this year in forecasting a thin majority for the west in the makeup of the 1936 Olympic team. On the basis of the first spring tests, topped off Saturday by the Drake and Penn relay carnivals, it now looks like a landslide for the athletic products of the midwest, southwest and far west.

Conspicuous among the surprises furnished by outdoor competition so far are these three performances: (2) Brilliant decathlon triumph by Glenn Morris, Fort Collins, Colo., auto salesman who bettered the existing Olympic standard at the Kansas relays.

(2) New national record of 9:10.6 for two miles by Don Lash of Indiana, bettering the outdoor mark of 9:13.2 set by Norma Bright at New York last summer.

(3) A new "citizens' record" of 222.65 feet in the javelin by Alton Terry of Hardin-Simmons college, Texas, at the Drake relays.

All three achievements forecast a strengthening of Uncle Sam's chances of scoring, at least in Olympic events which have heretofore held forth scant prospects for the U. S. A. Lash now looms as a great running mate for the coast star, Bright, in the 5000 meters, while the Pirns have been colonized.

Reassuring Evidence
Week end returns also produced re-assuring evidence in behalf of two of our prospective aces, Glenn Cunningham and Jesse Owens. At Des Moines, Cunningham stepped off 1000 yards in the new American record time of 2:11.2. Owens, under wraps at the Penn relays, breezed to a new carnival mark of 10.5 seconds for 100 meters and was satisfied to win the broad jump with a 23-foot leap.

Bigger and stronger than a year ago, the Ohio State Negro is priming himself to seek Olympic crowns in both sprints as well as the broad jump. Owens is still a "bad starter," in the opinion of Lawson Robertson the Olympic head coach, who says Owens has the "greatest pair of legs in athletics."

Meanwhile, the future of Eulace Peacock, Temple Negro, national champion and conqueror of Owens three times last season, is in some doubt. Peacock, who damaged a leg muscle competing in Italy last summer, aggravated the injury with a slight "pull" at the Penn relays Friday. He will be out of action several weeks. His coach, Ben Ogden, is pointing Peacock mainly for the Olympic "100" and believes a careful conditioning program will put the New Negro back on top.

Railbirds Withhold Kentucky Derby Win Predictions Awhile

Until Entire Field Is Assembled at the Downs Turf

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—Railbirds at Churchill Downs today awaited the arrival of eastern horses, which ran in the Wood Memorial Saturday, before giving their final verdict as to which of the 20-odd hopefuls expected to start Saturday in the 62nd Kentucky Derby would come home first.

Brevity, Joe Widener's Winterbrook favorite, who turned in a sparkling performance at the Downs Saturday in winning the Sophomore purse, was still tops among the locals, but Tufel's arrival was eagerly awaited following the colt's victory Saturday in the Wood.

Almost equal interest was centered on Granville, which ran second in the Jamaica event, Ned Reigh and Bright Plumage also are expected to arrive while there is some doubt as to whether Hal Price Headley's Hollywood will be shipped here for the classic. The Headley horse turned in a dismal performance Saturday.

Brevity Gets Top Spot.
Local pickers today gave Brevity the top spot with Tufel and Granville sharing second place honors. Col. E. R. Bradley's entries—Blon Joli and Banister—were next in line, with Grand Slam, Indian Broom and Gold Seeker coming in for their share of attention. Coldstream, an in and out, gave a poor showing Saturday in the Clark handicap at the Downs but still had a strong following.

Boston Pal, Charley Thompson's colt, pulled up lame after the Sophomore and is considered to be definitely out of the Derby. Wise Duke is not expected to be among the starters Saturday, but Silas, a dark horse, is still listed as a starter.

Further information on several of the Derby candidates will be gained tomorrow in the Derby trial. Indian Broom, Grand Slam and Gold Seeker are almost certain to be among the starters.

Schoolboy Rowe's Father Dead From Stomach Ailment

El Dorado, Ark., April 27.—(AP)—Victim of a brief illness Thomas M. Rowe, 60, father of Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe of the Detroit Tigers, succumbed yesterday to a stomach ailment.

The retired carpenter entered a hospital Thursday several days after he was stricken. Lynwood came here Saturday and was at the bedside with other members of the family when death occurred. The Tiger hurler planned to rejoin his teammates following funeral services this afternoon.

ALLEN PROVES REAL ASSET TO O'NEILL CREW

Indians Drive To 8-7 Victory On His Hurling

By ANDY CLARKE

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Steve O'Neill, pilot of the Cleveland Indians, seems to have diverted Johnny Allen's batting spirit into useful channels.

Allen was traded by the Yankees allegedly for his recalcitrant attitude. They were satisfied with his pitching but his bent for becoming embroiled with umpires, managers or anybody else who happened to be in a combative mood was at least partly responsible for the New York team putting him on the market.

Allen, under the guidance of O'Neill, seems to be concentrating his energies on winning ball games this year, however. Yesterday he turned in a five all-around performance as the Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 8-7 on a 16 inning marathon, the longest game thus far in the season.

The game was the highlight of a day's play which saw Dizzy Dean hold the Pirates to six hits as the Cards won 3-2 in the 10th and Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx, the cannon men of the American League, both boom out homers as the Yankees beat the Red Sox 12-9 in a slug-fest.

Allen Allows 2 Hits

Allen allowed the Browns only two hits in the last 8 2-3 innings but the stunt that labeled him a fighter was his driving slide into Catcher Rolfe Hemsley to score the winning run in the last of the 16th. The force of that slide knocked the ball from the catcher's hand and made Allen the hero and Hemsley the chump.

Hemsley was no "lucky Rolfe" in this inning. He could have caught Allen's bunted pop but he let it drop for a double play and threw wild to second as both runners scrambled safely to bases. Then he dropped the throw that lost the game when holding it would have completed a triple killing.

Brooklyn defeated the Phillies 10-7 in a battle of 26 hits which were interspersed with 11 errors. Earl Grace and Johnny Moore of the Phillies belted the ball for round trips as did Lonnie Frey of the Dodgers.

Vic Sorrell of the Detroit Tigers turned in a sparkling pitching performance as his team downed the White Sox before 15,000. He held the Sox to five hits as the Tigers, really gaining momentum as the season moves along, notched their fourth straight triumph. Sorrell held the

Kewanee Defeats Rock Island and Dixon Saturday

Golfers from Kewanee high school won a triangular golf meet between Kewanee, Dixon and Rock Island at Kewanee Saturday, getting a total of 343 strokes for 18 holes. Dixon took second with 352 strokes and Rock Island third with 403 strokes in medal play.

Sykowski of Kewanee was low man going out in 38 and coming in on the last nine with a 42 to score an 80. Dick Durkes came in second low with a pair of 41's for an 82 in the 18-hole route.

The meet was slow and all golfers were hampered by a strong, cold wind that swept the course. None of the golfers played up to their usual standard, it being the first meet of the spring for all three schools.

Accompanying Coach C. B. Lindell to Kewanee on the Dixon high school golf team were Durkes, Krug, Reis, D. Covert, Elwin Martin.

opposition hitless for six frames.

Tex Carleton of the Cubs held the bustling Cincinnati Reds to four blows and shut them out 5-0 before 21,555. Lee Stine held the Cubs to eight blows but his mates made three errors behind him.

Buck Newsom of the Senators held the Athletics to seven hits while his mates banged out 13 to beat the men of Mack 11-3. It was Newsom's third victory of the year.

"Mighty Atom" Fells Budge, Wins Mason Dixon Net Tourney

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 27.—(AP)—The Mason-Dixon tennis crown rested today on Bryan (Bity) Grant, the mite from Atlanta who once more assured his "giant-killing" role by taking a long and erratic match from Don Budge.

Budge, California's red-haired Davis Cup ace, started out against his teammate in fine style yesterday but racked halfway through before Grant's attack. The final tally was 2-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Woman, Who Picked 14 Derby Winners in 15 Years Shies Brevity

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—(AP)—The Brevity money around Des Moines started hunting a hedge today, for Mrs. Marvin Johnston, who has picked 41 Kentucky Derby winners in the last 15 years, disclosed she likes Coldstream to come home first Saturday.

"In fact," she said, "I like him very much, but Grand Slam may have an outside chance if the track is very muddy."

SHIKAT BACK IN COURT TO LEARN WHO'S HIS PILOT

German, Who Lost Mat
Bout To Armenian
Badly Injured

Columbus, O., April 27.—(AP)—Dick Shikat, with sundry bruises and a pair of crutches to show in exchange for his heavyweight wrestling title which he lost to Ali Baba, handlebar-mustached Armenian, Friday night at Detroit, was back in Federal court today to learn just who is his manager.

The huge German, who toppled Dan O'Mahoney from the heavyweight throne in Madison Square Garden March 2, has a hectic week end but didn't enjoy it.

Judge Mell R. Underwood cut through the red tape of Shikat's tangled troubles Friday to permit the champ to go to Detroit for the scheduled bout with Ali Baba. Shikat made the trip by plane. During the bout he took another ride, from the Armenian's brawny shoulders to the ringside seats. He struggled back into the ring and Ali Baba pinned him.

Badly Injured.

A trip to the hospital resulted in the disclosure that Shikat had a badly injured leg and severe bruises on his back. He flew back to Columbus last night, limped to a waiting automobile with the aid of crutches, and said he was ready to go on with the fight to prove that Joe Alvarez of Boston is not his manager.

Shikat not only was minus his title when he returned, but his end of the purse was tied up—a circumstance insisted upon by Judge Underwood before sanctioning the Detroit trip.

Dixon Track Team Invades Mendota Second Dual Meet

Purple and White track and field men with an opening non-conference victory under their belts taken from Rock Falls last Thursday, will invade Mendota tomorrow afternoon for their first N. C. I. conference dual meet of the season.

Dixon high will be defending its championship of four years standing, having won the conference title since 1932 every year. The meet, a dual affair, will not decide the title however as the final conference struggle in which all the N. C. I. schools are engaged is the only decisive title-bearing meet.

The locals have Rochelle, another N. C. I. school and their rivals Sterling also on the schedule this year. Sporting a well-balanced team in every department the Dixons counted seven slams against Rock Falls last Thursday, in winning 94 to 28.

wrestling Promoter Paul Bowser, contends in the suit that Shikat signed a contract with him. Shikat says he signed the articles two years ago, never received a cent from Alvarez, never wrestled in a match arranged by the Bostonian, and that Alvarez showed no interest in the contract until after Shikat had taken the title.

BIG TEN DIAMOND RACE WIDE OPEN

Defending Champion Gophers Defeat Purdue
Nine

Chicago, April 27.—(AP)—With five teams boasting both hitting punch and effective pitching, this season's Western conference baseball race shaped up today as a "wide open" battle.

Illinois topped the field in games won, having captured five contests without being beaten behind fine pitching by Hale Swanson and Howie Berg. Iowa won four games without a loss. The other unbeaten teams were Michigan, Indiana and Minnesota, each with two wins.

Minnesota the defending champion, demonstrated Saturday that its club had power to spare at the plate. The Gophers captured a double bill from Purdue, winning the opener 19-8 and the night-cap 10-1. Indiana's ace moundman, Babe Holser, struck out 13 as the Hoosiers trimmed Ohio State last Friday, 9-4, and on Saturday Indiana defeated the Buckeyes again, 5-0. Michigan beat Wisconsin 3-2 Saturday, first baseman Joe Lerner stealing two bases, then scoring the winning run on an infield out.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

OPENS TODAY AT COURT ROOM IN PRINCETON

The Bureau County Republican Central committee convened at 10 o'clock this morning in the Circuit court room in the temporary court house at Princeton. Organization of the committee was put under way and the first plans were made for the coming political campaign.

A resolution was presented that Bureau county be divided into nine districts, as follows:

District No. 1--Clarion, LaMoille, Westfield and Berlin.
District No. 2--Onio, Walnut and Dover.

District No. 3--Greenville, Fairfield, Manlius and Gold.

District No. 4--Mineral, Concord, Neponset and Macon.

District No. 5--Bureau and Wyand.

District No. 6--Indiantown, Arispe, Milo and Wheatland.

District No. 7--Princeton.

District No. 8--Solby and Leepertown.

District No. 9--Hall.

The resolution provided that the officers consist of a president, six vice-presidents, a secretary and treasurer--one of these officers to be elected from each of the nine districts, and the nine officers so elected to constitute the Board of Directors of the Central committee.

The plan was to have the county chairman first elected, then to have a secretary and treasurer elected, each to be from a different district of the county. After that is done to have the committeemen from all the precincts in the remaining six districts get together and select from their own number some committeemen from their district who will be a vice chairman of the county organization.

BARKLEY WINS KEYNOTE POST

Recommended for Temporary Chairmanship Also

Philadelphia, April 27—(AP)—The committee on arrangements of the Democratic national committee decided today to recommend U. S. Senator A. W. Barkley, of Kentucky, as temporary chairman and keynoter of the convention which meets here in June.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, will be the permanent chairman.

It was tentatively decided that President Roosevelt, if renominated, will be formally notified in a Saturday night outdoor meeting in the municipal stadium in South Philadelphia.

It was decided that President Roosevelt, if renominated, will be formally notified in a Saturday night outdoor meeting at the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field.

Earlier, the municipal stadium in South Philadelphia was selected tentatively for the meeting. Chairman James A. Farley later announced that Franklin Field was decided upon because in case of rain a transfer to the convention hall nearby could be made more expeditiously. The municipal stadium is three or four miles away.

Dr. Cary T. Grayson was named director of the medical staff, and Lee Barnes, of Alabama, chief doorkeeper.

Mrs. Borden Harriman, Washington, will serve as hostess of the convention, assisted by Agnes Collins Dunn, of New Hampshire. W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the national committee, will serve in a similar capacity. Colonel E. A. Halsey, secretary of the senate, will be sergeant at arms of the convention.

Farley Makes Plans
Farley said in making the announcements that the convention will open around noon on Tuesday, June 23.

The keynote speech will be delivered Tuesday night, and Permanent Chairman Robinson will speak Wednesday night. Governor George T. Earle of Pennsylvania also will speak.

Farley said the platform probably will be placed before the convention on Thursday. The nominating speeches for president and vice-president will be delivered Friday and Saturday.

In answer to a question, Chairman Farley said he did not know who would place the name of Mr. Roosevelt in nomination.

Plan Pilgrimage to Honor Pius XI

Vatican City, April 27—(AP)—The pilgrimage office announced today a world-wide pilgrimage to Rome to honor Pope Pius XI on his 79th birthday May 31.

The pilgrimage will include a nation-wide "plebiscite of loving, applauding affection" at Rome under the supervision of the Catholic Action Organization.

Religious ceremonies planned for the event include a mass at St. Peter's and a reception at which the Holy Father will receive thousands of the organization's members.

Pope Pius, the oldest ruling monarch in the world, also has under consideration a suggestion by ecclesiastical and lay dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church to proclaim a jubilee year beginning on his birthday.

A London theater has the largest one-piece carpet ever made in England. It weighs a ton, is 100 feet long and 43 feet wide, and requires 20 men to lift it.

LORADO TAFT TO CELEBRATE 76th BIRTHDAY, 29th

Eminent Sculptor To Receive Greetings of Thousands

Chicago, April 27—Lorado Taft, eminent sculptor and citizen of Illinois, will be seventy-six years old on April 28.

Thousands of his admirers will send him cordial greetings on that day and scores of representative organizations of the state will usher in an entire year of activities designed to honor Mr. Taft and to further perpetuate a universal knowledge of his works.

School children through the co-operation of the public school system, will devote time to a study of Mr. Taft's famous productions and to the story of his career, beginning at Elmwood, Illinois, and still continuing from the Midway Studios in Chicago. The libraries of the state are also planning special observance of the works of Lorado Taft while the various art clubs and societies of Illinois have all laid plans not only to extend greetings but to participate in a year long celebration.

Original plans for the Taft observance were made by a committee composed of Lane K. Newberry, Chicago artist; Dr. R. E. Hieronymus of the University of Illinois; J. T. Meek, editor of the Illinois Journal of Commerce; Mrs. Alfred Cook, art chairman of the Women's Clubs; Miss Eleanor Jewett, art critic and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, All Illinois Society of Fine Arts.

To Complete Work

It is expected, however, that the Art Institute of Chicago will assume a leading part in not only honoring the famous Illinoisan but in endeavoring to make possible the completion of what Mr. Taft believes to be his most interesting project—the "Fountain of Creation." R. B. Harshbarger, director of the Institute, has stated that "few artists have had as much influence in their own time and no one is more worthy of such an honor." He has been joined by the officers of the Institute including Potter Palmer and Chauncey McCormick in assuring Taft admirers of full cooperation. Included in the list of those who are working on varied programs designed to honor Mr. Taft are Dudley Crafts Watson; Curtis B. Camp;

Phi Beta Kappa, of which Mr. Taft is a member; Edgar S. Nethercut, Alfred Sturty, John Shapley of the University of Chicago; Irving K. Pond, Dr. Henry A. Cheney and many others.

"It isn't a birthday celebration that would appeal to Mr. Taft as much as greetings from his friends arriving at the Midway Studios, 6016 South Ingleside, Chicago, on April 29," declared Lane K. Newberry, chairman of the committee. "We feel that the State of Illinois should do more than make a one day observance of this event. Rather should all organizations unite in a program of twelve months duration calling special attention to the magnificent philosophy which inspired 'The Fountain of Youth', 'Alma Mater', 'The Fountain of the Great Lakes' and other famous Taft creations. There is also the possibility of presenting Mr. Taft's own play 'The Gates of Paradise' to the schools of the State and to all citizens not only because it is a most excellent piece of work but because it may also be the means of permitting the famous sculptor to complete 'The Fountain of Creation'—a project which constitutes his conception of the crowning achievement of his career."

Mr. Newberry announced that the press of the state was being invited not only to transmit the news of Mr. Taft's birthday to its readers but also to utilize available feature pages for stories concerning the most interesting career of the famous sculptor.

Washington, April 27—(AP)—A move was underway in one quarter today for an amendment to repeal the constitutional immunity of congressmen from arrest.

Congressmen's Immunity is Attacked

Rep. Hancock (R-NY) said yesterday he would introduce a "very timely" amendment to the constitution.

Hancock did not mention by name Rep. Zioneck (D-Wash.), who was fined Thursday on charges of speeding and contempt of court, but asserted "I know of several instances in which congressmen have gone around here and confused and scared little judges and policemen."

The constitution provides that while they are attending congress, going to a session or returning from one, legislators are immune from arrest except for "treason, felony, and breach of the peace."

Reporter Appeals to Supreme Court to Retain Freedom

Washington, April 27—(AP)—David Lee, a reporter for the Washington Herald, appealed to the Supreme Court today to set aside a 90-day jail sentence for contempt of court imposed after his newspaper had published a verdict reached secretly in a murder conspiracy trial by three judges of the Montgomery county, Md. Circuit Court.

Lee's attorneys contended he had been "deprived of his liberty without due process of law." They said he was tried without a charge, information, or indictments; was denied the presumption of innocence, and was convicted and sentenced on "no evidence legally tending to prove an offense."

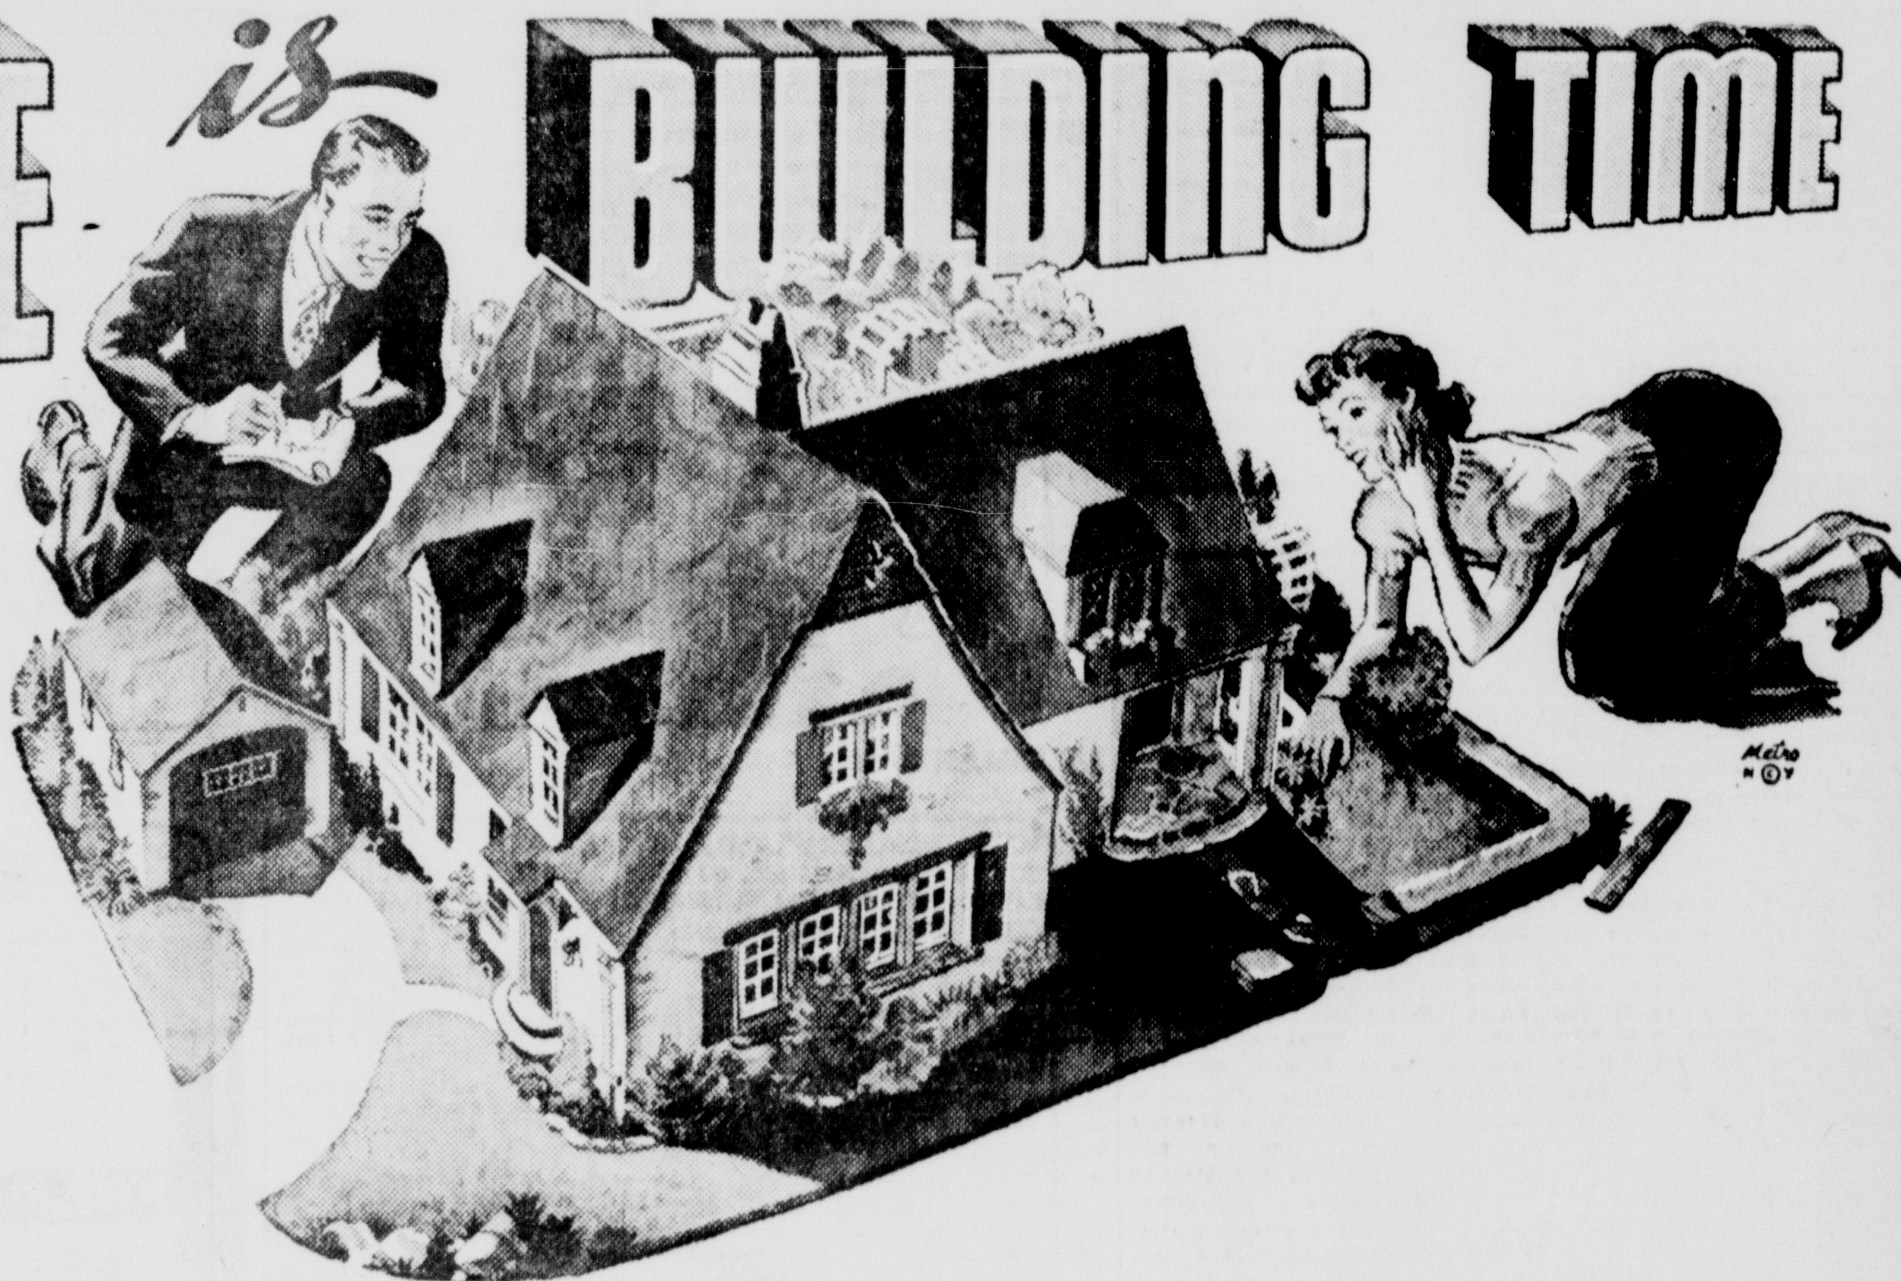

Pat Frank, another reporter, was sentenced to 90 days but his conviction was reversed by the Maryland Court of Appeals. American Newspapers, Inc., publisher of the Herald, paid a $5,000 fine.

IF WATER CONTRACTED
IN FREEZING, LIKE ALMOST ALL OTHER LIQUIDS, ICE WOULD SINK, AND OUR PONDS AND LAKES WOULD FREEZE SOLID.

WATER, as it grows colder, contracts until it reaches a temperature near freezing, then expands. If it did not expand, ice would sink to the bottom, and more ice would continue to form on the surface. Soon the entire water body would be frozen solid, and would remain so throughout most of the year. Even in summer, only a few inches on the surface would melt.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
LINDA BOURNE, 20 years old, pretty and socially prominent in the little town of Newtown, is left almost penniless after the sudden death of her father.

She becomes friendly with PETER GARDINER, political reporter, and shows him a scenario she has written. Linda breaks a date with Peter after DIX CAR-TER, with whom she is in love, telephones. Dix comes to see her but stays briefly. Later Linda goes to Peter's home and is welcomed by his mother.

Peter tells her that his newspaper needs a society reporter.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER V

FOR five hours Linda actually did not think of Dix for one minute. She was having a good time.
She ate chicken hash and fluffy biscuits and home-made relish and heaps of strawberry shortcake and felt like an over-stuffed child at Thanksgiving. She looked at pictures of Peter when he was a little boy (much to his disgust). She listened to stories of what a good boy he had been until he had to restrain his mother from saying more.

Linda talked—or rather questioned Peter—about newspaper work, and begged him to reassure her about the job on the Blade.

"It's a cinch you'll get it. You're just the girl. Barrett's been dependent on publicity to fill that society column, but I pointed out to him that you could fill it with a few telephone calls."

"Of course I could," Linda said breathlessly.

"The pay won't be much. Ask for $20; you'll probably get $18."

"Why, that's loads of money! Do you think I'll be worth it?" Linda asked him.

"There's lots of money to be made in newspaper work, my dear," said Mrs. Gardiner sagely, albeit she knew nothing about it.

"Are you always going to be a newspaperman?" Linda asked with awe, seeing the great career she was going to embrace.

"Why not?" Peter answered, lazily drawing on his pipe. "That's one job where you can put your feet on the desk and nobody minds."

"Don't you pay any attention to him, Miss Bourne. He likes to pretend he's the laziest man in the world, but he's been working since he was a little tyke selling papers.
And someday he's going to be famous. When he sells one of his plays, I tell him they are as good as the plays of this famous O'Neill."

"Oh," Linda said brightly; she might have known! "Plays!"

"Sure," Peter dismissed it. "Every newspaperman writes plays. That's the way he makes up to himself for not doing any other work."

"PLEASE may I read one?"
Linda asked with a sparkle in her eye. She said it so winningly as he had when he asked her to let him read her scenario.

"They're not worth it, but it's nice of you to want to. He played back at her."

"Peter read your story to me,
Miss Bourne. I told him I think

Dix said, "It will only be a year, Linda. Will you wait . . .
will you still remember me?"

It will make a fine moving picture."
Linda was embarrassed; he had read it to his mother! "You're just being kind"—and, turning to Peter—"Please may I take it along with me?" She didn't want anyone else to read it.

Peter took a long time to stamp out the ashes before he answered.
He cleared his throat and looked away.

"Sorry. I . . . er . . . I left it in my desk at the office but it's perfectly safe. Now about this interview tomorrow . . ."

Linda couldn't sleep that night.
She was weaving romances about a famous girl reporter uncovering crooked political schemes, saving the poor from financial disasters, rescuing children from fires, bringing in scoops. She was the girl reporter.

But it wasn't like that. Mike Barrett hired her, gave her a corner desk, told her to fill a column with society news and gave her a pair of scissors and a paste-pot.

She bought herself a note-book and went to work. There were no scoops for her, no political schemes to uncover. She spent her mornings on the telephone and her afternoons rushing from meeting to tea, from organization headquarters to committee meetings. Her daily column grew and added a Sunday page. She became a hard-working friend. To Mrs. Gardiner she told her whole story—the story of her mother and her father and her own loneliness—and into her sympathetic ears she poured the story of her love for Dix Carter.

Mrs. Gardiner was still when Linda had finished and something like fear came into her quiet eyes as she thought of her son and this girl. Peter had not spoken to his mother of the things she knew he must be feeling, but she guessed and did not want him to be hurt.
This wise woman saw the lack of emotional balance in Linda where others saw only the calm, poised and sensible things for which she stood. Mary Gardiner knew that Linda was made to be hurt and to hurt others. No one else in Linda's life ever perceived that. So no one could ever help her when she needed help, as she did many times in the years that followed.

AND Peter was her good friend.
Peter who wangled tickets for the few shows that came to the local playhouse. Peter who slipped an ivy plant on her desk from under his shabby topcoat. Peter who always had a well-thumbed book to draw from his pocket and read aloud when they went to walk late afternoons.

Truly, Linda's life was different and richer and happier until the time for Dix's commencement—and departure—drew near. With her heart heavier and her smile coming more slowly, Linda checked off the days on her calendar. And each time she saw Dix she waited for him to speak, to say something that would make all this sweet enchantment real so that if this were to be all she ever had to look back on, it would have a semblance of substance and not a vague dream.
But Dix did not speak, save of himself.

He was going to Europe. Business was something that "didn't mean much to a college man unless he inherited a good spot." He thought he would try to develop his voice. He thought perhaps a year in Rome . . .

"A whole year?" Linda's heart was in her eyes at last, and the thing that Dix had tried to prevent, had tried to escape from within himself was there. He was only a boy.

He was ashamed that he felt so moved, ashamed that he didn't want to leave her. He hadn't wanted to care.

"It will only be a year, Linda, and then I'll come back. Will you wait? . . . will you still remember me?"

"I'll wait for ever and ever," she said, rubbing her nose on the rough tweed of his coat.

That was the way he left her to weeks and months that lengthened with waiting, with nothing but little vague notes filled with talk of music. He was passionately involved with his music, as he was always to be. He told her of his social life and she tried to read between the lines. She knew Dix and she knew girls. But there were no other girls for him. The thing she had to fear was vastly more formidable.

Annual Reports

On Thursday morning, March 5, Circuit Judge Victor Hemphill caused to be entered upon the docket of the Macoupin County Circuit Court the following order:

"By agreement of parties by their attorneys made in open court, the court finds the issues in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant and assesses plaintiff's damages in the sum of $25.00. Judgment in favor of the plaintiff. The People of the State of Illinois for the use of Gladys Preston and against the defendant, B. F. Massa for the sum of $25 and costs, except clerk's filing fee and sheriff's costs on service of summons. Stricken."

And thus comes to a close a year which was filed almost a year ago by the Macoupin County Editorial Association for the purpose of testing and placing on record in this county a decision with reference to that section of the statutes which requires that the township supervisor, both as supervisor and as ex-officio treasurer of highways, publish an annual report within thirty days of the close of each fiscal year, setting forth in itemized detail in the funds received and sources from wheat she could successfully carry her litter to term, and the young grew normally.

The sterility induced in the male of the animal by the deficient diet was, however, of an organic and permanent nature. It was not possible to undo the damage done by later feeding of the improved diet.

Since there was no lack in the protein, fat, carbohydrate, or salt elements of the experimental diet, nor was there a dearth of vitamins
A, B, C and D, it was assumed, and later demonstrated that still another specific dietary factor was responsible for the sterility. This dietary factor was vitamin E.

The sterility of these experimental animals was therefore due to some interference with the embryo's continued development. The mother's body did not appear to be affected by the deficient diet, and proved by the addition of lettuce leaves, alfalfa, oats or sprouted

Business Wondering if New Deal Actually Intends to Cripple, Retard

Officer of U. S. C. of C. Makes Statement in Address

Washington, April 27 — (AP) — The Chamber of Commerce of the United States today heard one of its leaders call on all business to form a "solid front" to defend any of its sectors which are subject to "unfair attack" by "demagogues."

"Too long have we allowed men, intent only upon the political benefit of the moment, to go unchallenged in their muckraking of American business," Philip J. Fay of San Francisco, Chamber vice president, said in an address prepared for delivery to business men gathered for the annual convention of the Chamber.

"For example," he said, "public utility companies have been made fair game for every political opportunist who wants to take a whack at them."

Calling on the business men to promote better public understanding of such matters, he said consumers' electric light and power bills are a "pittance" alongside other items in a family budget.

At an earlier point in his speech, he called also for business associations to bring to government an understanding of business problems, an understanding which, he said, "does not exist today."

Actually Intended?

"No man," he said, "who has himself any practical acquaintance with business processes and methods, and who is not utterly blinded by partisan political considerations, can examine the securities act, the stock exchange act, the successive revenue acts of recent years, the social security act, the public utilities act, the Tennessee Valley Authority act, and many of the arbitrary regulations devised under a dozen other recent acts, and arrive at any verdict other than that they cripple and retard business rather than help and revive it. The fact is even so clear that it is hard to keep from wondering if such a result were not actually intended."

The Chamber convention proper, which will hear speakers analyze the New Deal, begins tomorrow with a detailed survey of ways to solve unemployment, an answer to President Roosevelt's assertion that business must absorb more of the jobless. Today's meeting was devoted largely to internal business matters.

Mention Dixon

The current issue of Motor News, official publication of the Chicago Motor club, repeatedly calls to the attention of motorists, the natural beauty of Dixon and vicinity. Among the entries in the Motor club's photographic contest is a picture taken in Grand Detour which demonstrated the pleasure of touring and the double joy of detouring.

"The Dixon area is rich in woodlands, has proved most popular with photographers," the accompanying article states.

Louella O. Parsons, former Dixonite, in writing an article on movies from Los Angeles, Calif., for Saturday's issue of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, refers to Dixon in one paragraph. Under the heading, "Talent unemployed," the famous moving picture writer and critic, says:

"Sometimes, I am reminded of the essay that I wrote when I graduated from the Dixon high school on the failure of America to appreciate her own great artists and musicians. The Hollywood producers are exactly the same. They won't realize how much good talent is unemployed."

People's Column

Editor Telegraph—In the list of appropriations made by the council of the city of Dixon as published in Saturday evening's Telegraph, the amount to be given to the Dixon Public Library is $5000.

A special six mill tax is levied for the library, and on the assessed property valuation of the city of Dixon, which is given as $9,873,075, the library would receive $5,923.84.

Just what is to be done with the $5,923.84 over the $5,000, which is assessed and collected for the library? Being a special tax, can it be used legally for any other purpose? It is understood that it cannot. Where is it to go? The taxpayer has a right to know.

During the year just passed, 44 per cent of the citizens of Dixon used books from the library and its service is invaluable to the school children of the city. With the exception of holidays, it is kept open to the public and used eleven hours of every week-day.

Why should there be any question of appropriation? This six mill tax is levied and collected from the property owners of Dixon specifically for the Dixon Public Library. What right has the council to withhold one penny of it or to use it for any other purpose? A Taxpayer.

DRIVING TESTS WILL BEGIN AT NOON WEDNESDAY

Free Examination Offered Motorists of the Community

Courses in Illinois high schools on sportsmanlike driving are being inaugurated under the sponsorship of the Chicago Motor Club which will the last of this week conduct non-compulsory and free driving tests at the Telegraph carrier boys' room. The tests begin Wednesday noon, and it is hoped many citizens will take advantage of the opportunity to assist this move for traffic safety.

No obligation is connected with the test, which is designed not to judge whether the individual is a poor or good driver, but his potential ability to drive. The devices used will test reaction time, activity, motor coordination, speed estimation, strength of grip, blood pressure, glare resistance, perimeter of vision, acuity of vision, tests for phorias, depth perception, color perception, and hearing.

For the past ten years, doctors and psychologists throughout the country have been developing and improving driver testing technique and apparatuses until today many of them are considered sound and valid. They have been tested by taxicab, bus and transit companies with subjects picked at random. Experimental work is still continuing in commercial fields and in the laboratories of many colleges.

To make possible the effective use of equipment in various locations, aid is required in loading and unloading the devices and in setting them up ready for operation. When the tests are conducted unusually intelligent high school students, police officers, or other persons of ability are needed to assist in operating the devices. Seven boys of Dixon high school will assist in shifts here Thursday and Friday from noon until night.

The Chicago Motor Club furnishes and transports the equipment without charge. In addition a safety engineer studying the value of driver testing will accompany the equipment, supervise the operation and analyze results.
